It has been a busy month for the the Prag na? project. Firstly, a large group of people visited Morwellham Quay and went underground in the mine train to see how it was to work in the mine. Afterwards, the group tried to bake bread, make rope and search for gold. With mixed results...

The next visit organised by Prag Na? was a tour of the Polgoon vineyard. The vineyard is near to Penzance and the tour was a chance to see how grapes are grown in Cornwall and how wine is made. After, there was a chance to taste the Polgoon wines of course including red wine. It's not common to find red wine made in Great Britain.

On Saturday, 19th May, there will be "Tree Walk" in Tehidy, and on Sunday 20th May, there will be a walk along the Cornish Celtic Way from Ludgvan. Further details on the Facebook page of Prag na?

The Cornish Language Office is renewing the Kalender Kernewek website.

In the first place, the address of the website has been changed to "Kalender Kernewek" (instead of KalendAr Kernewek). But more importantly, there is now a page with films in Cornish and another page with Cornish language songs so that they are easier to find. The calendar itself is still there of course with all the events for Cornish speakers. If you are organising an event, send details to the Cornish Language Office so that they can be shown on the calendar.

The launch of new TV programme – Jaqi and Jerry

Yma Pellwolok an Gernewegva ow herdhya oryon a'n taves. An ganel bellwolok re dhellos an kynsa towlen 'Jaqi ha Jerry'.

An dowlen yw y'n gis 'Richard & Judy' – byttegyns, pub tra yw der agan yeth nyni.

Fylmys veu dhe Bennseythen Gernewek yn Tewyn Bleustri gans gwestoryon Mark Elton, Ben Harris ha Hanterhir. Ober da veu gwrys gans Jerry Sethir ha Jaqi an Delores rag hy fresentya.

Mar mynnowgh mires orth an dowlen, hwilewgh an folen 'www.anradyo.com' der Facebook po 'Pellwolok an Gernewegva' der Youtube (kavadow yn PW-gonyk ynwedh).

Ni a wor meur ras dhe FEAST ha'n Konsel Artys rag aga skoodhyans.

Pellwolok an Gernewegva is pushing the boundaries of the language. The TV channel has put online the first programme of 'Jaqi and Jerry'.

The programme is in the style of 'Richard and Judy' – however, everything is in our languge.

It was filmed at the Pennseythen Gernewek in Newquay with guests Mark Elton, Ben Harris and Hanterhir. Jerry Sethir and Jaqi Heard did a great job presenting it.

If you want to watch the programme, search the page www.anradyo.com through Facebook or "Pellwolok an Gernewegva" on Youtube (also available on smart TV).

Thanks to Feast and to the Arts Council for their support.

Pennseythen Gernewek

Yth esa moy ages 100 den yn Tewynblustri arta an vledhen ma rag an Bennseythen Gernewek restrys gans Kowethas an Yeth Kernewek.

Ha dy'Sul, rag gorfenna, Klass Loundres re berformyas rann Resurrexio Domini gans Polin ha Mark ow kul gwella gallens dhe worra 'gwyns teg' a-dryv Pilat!

Meur ras dhe bubonan a oberis mar dhiwysyk dhe restra an bennseythen. Pur bosek yw avel chons dhe omguntel ha kewsel yn Kernewek oll an termyn gans kemmysk bras a dus.

There were more than 100 people in Newquay again this year for the Pennseythen Gernewek organised by Kowethas an Yeth Kernewek.

It was three full days of events and a good opportunity for students to meet other Cornish speakers and practice their Cornish.

On the Friday, it was either classes or making a TV programme (Jaqi ha Jerry) and singing in the evening. On Saturday, there were talks, games, a walk to Porth and dancing. The Heamoor class performed their play about mining communities, and it was lovely to see the history of people like Humphry Davey in this way. And to finish on Sunday, the London class performed a part of Resurrexio Domini with Polin and Mark doing their best to get rid of Pilate.

Thanks to everyone who worked so hard to organise the Pennseythen. It's very important as an opportunity to get together and speak Cornish all the time with a large mix of people.
